

Grange Lane Allotments News Update November 2020

On behalf of the Committee

Allotment Photography Project

Dear Grange Lane Plotholders,

We hope you are all doing well. We are writing to let you know that our book is available to purchase through Kickstarter until Wednesday 18th November. We would like to thank everyone who has bought a book or print so far – your contribution is very much appreciated. We are delighted to be producing a book of the project and all profits from sales will go to the Trussell Trust (Food Bank). If you are still interested, there are many books and prints available to buy and the best process for the time being to receive a book is to order it from Kickstarter.

We would like to thank everyone who has generously made a pledge and backed the project so far. Hannah & Jimmy Don't let the grass grow ...

While the mellowness of autumn still holds, please make sure that the grass paths to the east (the left side looking up the hillside) and north (at the lower end of the plot) of your allotment are trimmed and tidy. This is shown right in green. Channels and ditches around the edge of your plot should also be free-running. This will make for easier access to allotments during winter, and not only benefit you but also your fellow plotholders.
